Great information!

Most of the SMB hits I have had this summer have been on a brown and orange Clouser on a size 10 streamer hook. The "traditional" chartreuse and white on a salt water size 6-8 hook has been disappointing so far this summer.

I know the rock bass are not a species sought out on fly rod, but I have caught many on the brown/orange in the Juniata as well. Red Eyes over 8" puts on a nice little fight for such a small fish.
