

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Cheap Rods & Gear You Are Proud to Own

Re: Cheap Rods & Gear You Are Proud to Own

Author: : MattBoyer

Date: : 2010/7/23 9:59:34

URL:

Quote:

JackM wrote:

I only use the top of the line stuff, so I am out of this discussion.

Come one Jack, we all know you still have your first communion money. 😊 My favorite cheap rod is my main trout rod, which I built from around 25 bucks worth of clearance components. If my math is correct, which I doubt it is, I should be hitting my 5000th trout on it this fall. The sad part is it's been over 4500 for about 2 or 3 years now. Oh well, when the boy's a few years older I'll be back to fishing a couple hundred days a year and then I can rack up the numbers. A few other bargains are my pair of 7WT's that were built for about 35 bucks and the $250 rainshadow 12/13WT blank that I got for $12.95 a few years ago. I really have no use for it until I get back down to chase tarpon, but $12.95? Kinda sold itself. 🙄

Boyer