

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Rotary Vises

Re: Rotary Vises

Author: : MKern

Date: : 2006/11/29 10:24:38

URL:

I recently purchased the Griffen Odessy Cam. It was a little pricy, btu I am pleased. I used to tie on a $15 vise that was fully adjustable, and it worked for many years and hundreds of flies. I would still be using it if the jaws didn't wear out.

Not much has changed since I bought my new vise. Flies still look the same, and didn't cut down on the amount of time it takes to tie a fly, like I previously thought. However, it is nicer to tie on than my old vise. Plus, every once in a while you have to spoil yourself -- the main reason bought mine.

The next time I buy a vise, it would probably be a Regal. they are full rotary and thre are no screws, bolts, bell, or whistles in order to change hook sizes. You simple open the jaws and place in a hook and it is held tight. All of the professionals I've seen tie use one. The only downfall is the vises are so ugly.