

---

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Slippery Rock Creek, Lawrence County, 08/03/2010

Re: Slippery Rock Creek, Lawrence County, 03/08/2010

Author: : David

Date: : 2010/8/4 10:32:37

URL:

GG,

While we didn't land any monsters, most of the fish caught had some shoulders. Bruno had one big guy break him off and my best was getting close to 15". The majority seemed to be in the 10-13 inch range, leaning towards the high end. And all with lot's of spunk.

The hatch has been going on for at least a couple days because their bellies were BIG. I think alby even had one puke on him (binge and purge!) The hatch was heavy enough that even after dark the horizon had a glow. When it shut down, it shut down quickly!

There was also a hex spinner fall that never materialized. There was a cloud of them forming above me until a slight drizzle fell for no more than a minute...spinners were gone!!!

Alby,

Thanks again for the reel (I left my reel bag at home and was up there an hour and a half earlier than bruno and alby...talk about torture!!!!)

Bruno,

Thanks for the beer...good stuff!!!