I wear clothes til they fall off, there's a needle and thread at my desk at work. This is not the first time I've done that, nor would it be the first time I've stitched my shoes back together.

Wrapping duct tape around 'em doesn't work anymore, I just feel silly, although I had a pair of combat boots I did that with for years until I couldn't deal with the hobnails lancing my heel with every step anymore.
