There is just "Too Much Information".

For example: I went to Myrtle Beach this summer. You drive up and down Kings Highway and see ALL THESE SIGNS. You do not really notice the signs until you are trying to look for something SPECIFIC, which you can never find because of all the "sensory overload".

I do not know what your problems were with the site. I just know that 2 years ago it was so much easier to follow posts, post, and read stream reports and actually reply to them (without choosing from 13 differnt boards). Now, it is just sensory overload.

Just my opinion. You asked for it. Its your site. Do what you wish.
