

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : NOTICE: Posting Links & Pictures

NOTICE: Posting Links & Pictures

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2007/9/6 16:18:36

URL:

If you would like to post a link to a website article or picture, Please use the text editor option shown below. Just pasting a link into the text editor copy box causes grief for the reader, usually because it is too long and causes left to right scrolling. Often times the Mods or Webmaster have to go in and shorten the link or properly post it.

See the picture below and follow these instructions to post pics or websites/URLs. Also, once the "link" is added through the URL or Photo buttons, the resulting text or code can be edited to better describe the content of the link. As shown below using Greenback cutthroats

The first part of the link code is the direction to the website and the second part is what shows up in the post. Just change the second part but leave the brackets.

To view the diagram below in high res, just double click on it and then click in the lower right hand corner to blow it up.

We would appreciate you using these methods to reduce the amount of legwork necessary to clean up the posts.

Thanks in advance.

Maurice

Attach file:

---

 Posting linksPAFF.jpg (120.65 KB)

