Good question, thanks for bringing it up.

I agree with JayL, The post reply box is for simple replies such that you just made. Anytime one wishes to add pictures or links they should click the reply button and do it through the editor according to the directions above.

But if you wish to use the Tiny.url thingy, I don't think thats a problem. The goal here is to reduce the amount of unbroken URL code lines that cause really, really wide posts.

Thanks,

Maurice
