

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Thermometers

Re: Thermometers

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2007/9/11 14:42:18

URL:

I still use a thermometer that I bought from kettle creek tackle shop over 20 years ago - just a standard one with red fluid inside for easy reading, and a metal case - I believe it cost about $8 then.

I have it attached to about 8 feet of old fly line with a loop on the end - I just put it thru my finger and toss it in the stream for a few minutes.

As for mercury, I'm pretty sure it's been banned, and doubt that any thermometer purchased recently would contain it.

I've considered getting a digital one, but wonder just how accurate they are