

---

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Rookie

Re: Rookie

Author: : OlyphantLucky

Date: : 2007/9/13 20:09:50

URL:

Also when you find your local fly shop ask them to give you a quick rundown on how to tie some basic knots like the DOUBLE SURGEON'S LOOP, when i first started i found it to be a lot easier when someone showed me how to tie knots then reading it on paper or on the internet. also ask alot of questions like what are they biting on and ask them to show you the fly and what sizes. i started about this time last year and i still ask all kinds of questions when i visit the fly shop...try and stock up on flies before you hit the water cause you might be in the trees alot or sometimes when you first start learning to cast you might snap you fly off and you will be fishing with no fly on your line till you check it.. that happend to me about a million times..haha. but most of all never give up there had a be 100 times when i wanted to snap my rod in half and go home and give up..then after a while when you get in the swing of things there wont be a day that goes by when you find yourself day dreaming about flyfishing....have fun