

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : Woolly Buggers

Re: Woolly Buggers

Author: : Srflick

Date: : 2010/9/1 15:17:18

URL:

I too started fly fishing with buggers there truly is no wrong way to fish them I prefer a strip/twitch. Though many times I've had strikes as soon as it hit the water. When tying I also like to add some ice dub occasionally. I prefer a wrap of wire and no bead but that's just me. Also I've tied black bodies with grey tails taken from a spring gobbler kill. and have pretty good success with those on the upper bald eagle and streams in black moshannon. Haven't tried fishing one unweighted with a dropper but it sounds killer!