

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Zoning Boards says No, judge says Yes

Re: Zoning Boards says No, judge says Yes

Author: : trout17

Date: : 2010/9/2 11:22:01

URL:

Just to add to my post above, I have a friend that works for the PFBC and he works with the gas drillers on pipe line right of ways and withdrawal sites from streams and rivers. The gas industry has asked about three different sites on Pine Creek in the northern tier, they have requested 5 million gallons a day from Big Fishing Creek and up to 500,000 gallons from Larry's Creek. I have a cabin on Fishing Creek and the water is incredibly low right now. He also told me that the industry has brought "minimum flow" information to his meetings. For instance, Big Fishing Creek "only" needs 25% of normal flow for the fish so that leaves millions of gallons for withdrawal purposes. That don't pay for the water, just right of ways when getting water from private owned lands.

Jim Kearney