

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : could we, would we and should we?

Re: could we, would we and should we?

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2006/12/2 12:48:17

URL:

I wasn't accusing you of being a drug addict...sorry if you took it that way. It was just a lot of questions and a lot of thinking all at once. Usually the kind of "deep" thinking I do more of when I've been "enlightened". Not by drugs but the drinkable kind. Those are all good questions...many that have been pondered, by many, for a long time. Actually I am waiting for Chaz to submit his dissertation on the subjects you brought up. These questions are right up his alley. They give the simple answer...Of course we could, we should and why wouldn't we. Unfortunately some don't see things the same way, mostly because it doesn't serve their personal preference of what fishing is or want it to be. Don't let me discourage your positive attitude. My comment was just the first thing that popped into my mind.