

Subject: : Fly Fishing Events and Meet-ups

Topic: : Young Buc Festival

Young Buc Festival

Author: : stevehalupka

Date: : 2010/9/14 15:04:07

URL:

On October 23rd and the 24th, a mass of us are getting together in the Highlands for a day of chasing the elusive fall river run spawners/fresh stockies in the general area

Doubt many of you are likely to join as it's not interwoven with this sites "jams", however, all are more than welcome.

We have a lot of non-fly types coming; a jam band, photographers, hikers, festival followers... diversity :)

My boy will be back from Alaska and will also be attending... if you're interested in what the West has to offer in terms of guiding on a more personal level, this would be a great opportunity for you to sit down one on one with someone who is in the game.

No formalities in terms of things to bring... Yourself and what you need to sustain.

I will forewarn that that majority of those attending will be a tad younger than most on this site, so if you'd think you'd like to join, send me a PM, and I'll throw you the facebook and/or forum invite. All over 21 btw.. no jail bait.