

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Cold weather/water gear

Cold weather/water gear

Author: : CAMBYSES

Date: : 2007/9/20 12:24:34

URL:

Last year I started fly fishing in early February and I will most likely fish through the winter this year.

The gear I used last year was an Old pair of Pro-Line 3mm Neo waders. (deceased) and I would just layer as much as I could to keep warm. It didn't work to well and if I fell I was gonna be in trouble with all the cotton layers I had on.

My question is what are some suggestions from those of you with a bit more experience in this matter with regards to outerwear, gloves and layering?

Thanks

Bob