I am an advocate of sharing and exchanging information in private venues. Jay, you've shared information with me and would be happy to do the same if asked. Thank you for that. I have also shared with others in the same ways and am more than happy to do so.

Posts that encourage small stream fishing are great as they can be inspiring, helpful and enjoyable to read and view photos as long as careful discretion is used.

Sharing information is an essential aspect of sportsmanship IMHO, but I am not an advocate of broadcasting specific locations to the masses.
