

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Do you consider it ethical to advertise small streams?

Re: Do you consider it ethical to advertise small streams?

Author: : JackM

Date: : 2010/9/23 20:49:50

URL:

Did you find any of those streams on your own? No, then I understand why you don't want to share them beyond a few choice people. It would be disrespectful to the person who showed you that water, whether they swore you to silence or not. I have no problem recognizing an ethical duty to the person who showed you the water, but not to a stranger who just happens to fish the same location.

Like it or not, it is the information age, and even with all these pesky ethical no-nos, I think the dissemination of information more broadly is a positive thing, even if you are sitting on my bench when I show up.