

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Do you consider it ethical to advertise small streams?

Re: Do you consider it ethical to advertise small streams?

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2010/9/23 20:52:06

URL:

Yes, I found one of the montana streams on my own, using mapping software and other traditional information that I had. Don had to work, and gave us some tools to find our own work for the day. He told me what he knew, but had never visited the area. It involved a stunning 3 hour drive.

I have done my homework, and developed a rough system to find limestone spring creeks, and have put it to work in many locations.

The NH streams are the product of about three tanks of gas and a prayer.