Fishidiot,

Thanks for the tips!...I hope to give it try this fall and will give you a full report.

You're welcome Mason. Good luck this fall. The next two months are prime time.

Also, good advice from Sandfly a couple posts up. While I'd recommend an intermediate line for the beginning salt Ffer, like Sandy, I prefer a very heavy lead core shooting head for jetty work. One safety note: if you're fishing the salt for the first time don't even think about walking out on wet jetty rocks without cleats. Just don't do it.
