For those of us who live in places with great trout streams, we feel the same way about our attempts for salt water fish.

Grass is always greener, I guess.

I'm sure everyone here had to put time in on their local trout stream before they could constantly catch fish .Well the salt is the same way but the fish are all wild and they get a lot bigger and most of them have teeth. If you can't catch any fish in the salt it is not the salts fault you just don't know what your doing yet .
