I saw where there were several fellows here who fished the Schuylkill for smallmouth bass. I drive over it between Mont Clare and Phoenixville every morning and evening on my way to and from work. It looks like it could be some nice fishing. My question is where are some places to access the river. I do not want secret spot info, just some places where I could access it and have a nice time in the evening on my way home from work or on Saturday or Sunday for awhile. I usually fish the small streams like the French and Pickering Creeks but right now they are so low that I do not want to stress those fish any more till we get more water in them. I also thought about the Perkiomen but I am not familiar with that stream at all. Any information would be appreciated.
