

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Recycling Old Flies

Re: Recycling Old Flies

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2006/9/14 21:39:06

URL:

I have two good options for flies in this condition. If they are not falling completely apart I find a steam blast from the tea pot will revive most beat up flies. The other use i have for them is my favorite. Bluegills!

When they become completely unusable they go into either the trash or a box I have in my flytying stuff that might as well be in the trash. Unless there is some oddball hook that I am just out of, I never open that box except to put old flies in..they never come out. kind of like a roach motel.