I personally think fising dries CAN be boring, but I didn't complain about it.

Best review the postings, thus far. At no point have I made any comment stating one method is better than the other, only the one that's more engaging and the disagreement that if you're not catching, you're not enjoying.

why don't you just stand in the river without fishing then? Wouldn't it accomplish the same goal for you? Or just go for a walk near a body of water?

I do all the time, actually. Sometimes, simple observation is more enjoyable than all the flailing about.
