RLeep,

Your guess is as good as mine. When I got this rod it didn't have the cap on the end, so after some research I assumed it was the 7'9" 5wt, much like you mentioned.

However, when I sent it in to Orvis and they returned it, this is the cap they sent back with a note that I should just epoxy it to the end of the rod.

You could very well be right though.

In terms of when it was made, I'm not sure. However, the guys at Orvis said it was most likely back in the mid-1980's.
