Awesome report guys! I hope to make it back to Erie this weekend, Oct 22-24, or maybe even the Salmon. I can't decide. I guess if the water levels are good I my hit Erie, if not I'll probably just stay here in Central PA.

I was hoping you guys might share what color egg patterns you were using? Last weekend, Oct 8-10, they seemed to like Peach, Light Pink, and Light Yellow, mostly all muted colors. I had a few on a Blue Egg, right before dark. We also did very well on lighter colored nymphs: Hare's Ear, a Gray Stonefly imitation, and a Light Yellow Bodied Prince nymph. It's great that you guys did so well.
