Great photos and congrats on a successful trip "mup'er anat".

Regarding the crowds on lower Walnut in the photos and even lower Elk: the reason there are so many guys there because that's generally where the largest number of fish are. And that's where the highest number of fresh ones generally are. I don't advocate fishing there, but if it keeps guys off of other stretches of streams then I'm good with it.

Let them stand shoulder to shoulder and throw the same baits and flies to the same fish, I'll take a walk!
