I like to read this forum because it makes me remember at ton of mistakes I made when I started. So what would the experienced guys out there say was their greatest lesson learned?

Mine was fishing a trib of the Loyalhanna in the winter. I fell in under my head wearing cheap rubber boot foot waders. Soaked to the bone and a good hike back to the car. I was hypothermic by the time I got back to the car, shivering uncontrollably. I drove home naked that day with the heat on full the whole time.

Lesson learned – always pack some dry clothes for the ride home.
