I've been at this fly fishing thing for a little over 10 years and one of the best things I've learned is that you really never stop learning. Sounds somewhat trivial, but the group here, and this particular forum is an outstanding resource. Learning from other's experiences is huge!

A recent experience comes to mind. When going on a destination trip--or one above an hour +/- (you make the call) MAKE A LIST! I made a trip to Erie last Thursday AM, had the Jeep packed the night before, was there early, had my boots on, getting ready to lace up the rod and discovered that my reel was at home on my desk. Lost a few hours of AM fishing and had to pick up a new reel, the drive home to get my reel wasn't worth a return trip.
