

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : What's in the 'frac' fluid???

Re: What's in the 'frac' fluid???

Author: : jdaddy

Date: : 2010/11/16 19:44:12

URL:

There are companies that are voluntarily disclosing fracking, since there are many federal and state agencies breathing down their neck. They know perfectly well that they are going to have to disclose the "proprietary" formulas, so some companies are voluntarily disclosing the information is a gesture of "goodwill".

Biker it is my understanding that the concrete liner is going in after the fracking process not during. Unless you are talking about something else with the concrete liner thing . . .

I'd like to know how some of these school districts are putting wells on their land and the parents are allowing it. I mean it takes all of five seconds for find video of exploding wells.

As far as Halliburton goes, don't think they release their proprietary fracking formula out of the kindness of their hearts.

<http://green.blogs.nytimes.com/2010/1...-halliburton-on-fracking/>

PS: THERE IS NO SUCH THING A PROPRIETARY FRACKING FLUID INGREDIENTS!!!!!!