I agree with Jack here, with one small change.

While I'm ok with a straight tax (provided the money goes to enforcement of regs on the industry), I'd opt for a lower tax with the remainder of the money to be collected in fines. You've gotta make it cheaper for them to follow proper procedures. Do it right, and you can make a nice profit. Screw up on easily preventable crap like this, and it's gonna get a whole lot more expensive in a hurry...

The key to making any industry responsible is making it profitable to be responsible.
