Another rant. Tim Murphy is spot on about unchecked and unplanned development. This is happening not only in the Lehigh Valley, but all over PA. I live in Chester County, and it's unbelievable how in such a short time, the County has been developed with homes and strip malls. The only thing that has not been developed is the infrastructure in the areas such as the roads, water and sewer systems. A 5 minute trip by car a few years ago has turned into a 25 minute trip on the same two lane road with a traffic light every 100 yards at the entrances to the all the developments.

When I travel back to the rural areas of NE PA where I grew up, I see a different kind of development, roads cut through the mountains for windmills and natural gas exploration. I shudder to think what our State will look like in 10, 20, or 30 years!

Enough ranting for now. Glad to see you back posting again Tim. We were missing the "old coot" perspective on a lot of subjects on here..... 😄 😊
