

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : LLH fly shop

Re: LLH fly shop

Author: : SBecker

Date: : 2010/11/28 10:16:07

URL:

Quote:

gfen wrote:

LRSABecker wrote:

I'll tell you what, I know the perfect location for a fly shop in the valley, that is already a bait shop and is for sale

What, that place on 329?

Dude, I know you love yourself some Lehigh, but the water reminds me of standing waist deep in a sewer there.

Like someone else said, you won't win this battle in the LV. There's people here, sure, but they're not afraid to hop in their car and drive to Hamburg, Reading, or I guess Plymouth Meeting now.

[/quote]

Jerry, He makes a pretty good business there and the constant traffic is also a plus. You know how many people fish that dam and below? A ton, plus you have the Coplay, the Hokey, Ranger Lake, Tri Boro, and a couple other streams withing 5 minutes. It is a really nice shop and you would just keep it a bait shop with a large fly fishing section. I know it's a dream and will never happen, but I think it's a perfect set up for a shop.