What's your tying setup look like?

I've been trying to build a portable bench that works well. My first one was very basic but I felt it needed more. I ripped it apart yesterday and rebuilt it from the ground up. I'm no carpenter and my woodworking skills suck badly, but I'm pretty happy with it so far from a functional standpoint. Anyone have any other tips or suggestions?

I'm going to add more holes for beads, etc, and probably build a new one and stain it, but you get the idea.
