

---

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Tying workstation

Re: Tying workstation

Author: : Anonymous

Date: : 2007/10/14 12:27:08

URL:

Well, MEDICLIMBER, I think ya' "hung yer self", on that one, because anyone I KNOW that can afford to fly fish "seriously", in no way, can afford any booze with names I can't even pronounce!! And, that includes the doctors/vets,(same guys, two, handy professions), that I often fish with!

BOB..... on your tying station location and your future Mrs.

One, (of thousands), excuses you COULD start with, is the "Cost effective-versus cost lost-theory. To whit.....

"Dear Pookie, you see, I loose about 125 flies a year, fishing. At $2.25ea, @ the fly shop, that's $281.25!!! BUT!

If I have a place, where I can tie my own.... say, at .18cents ea. that's only $22.50!!

By allowing me this tying area, I'm MAKING US MONEY, to the tune of $258.75 a year!"

You might, also, remind her that "you've also been helpful in platicizing the cat, so there's already less loose hair around the place". But, watch the "Pookie" stuff, too much and you may have to take up knitting, instead of fly tying.

Good Luck!