Had a military aircraft fly overhead when on Penns. I heard the sound from a distance thinking it was a fast moving freight train, then as it grew louder I realized all the RRs in the area are gone. Just as it got to sounding like the mountains were falling down, I saw the huge plane (looked like a small transport type) what seemed like no more than 200 feet overhead. I stood braced for the coming crash into the mountains, but heard nothing but the slowly fading rumble of a jet engine. Fish started rising very soon and I forgot about it until now.
