I don't agree that flyfishing makes you more patient. I'm very very easy to "set off" away from the water.

I get extremely focused on the creek with ff. It's my O.C.D. kickin in. I get tunnel vision with the whole process of castin mending drifts ect...I actually have to make myself take a second and enjoy the surroundings. The whole process is enjoyable but I feel I miss some of the fishing "experience". Thats why I stop to make time to enjoy the water, the friends, fish and the other fishers you meet along the way. Thats what ff is really about.
