I'd love to try the salt , I have an 8 wt bass taper 8wt line , I can tie a decent Clouser , where is this Hook you speak of? Would that equipment fit the bill? If YOU were ME where would you start?

FI already gave you the basics, but the thing that seems nice about the Hook is you've got open ocean on one side, bays and coves on the other side, and a dedicated "fishing beach" without worry of smacking some bather with 8oz of lead conveniently shaped into a giant pyramid deathrocket with another 2oz of fishhead tailing along for the coup d'grace.

Someday, I'm gonna snap one off on the OCNJ beach during prime bathing hours and kill someone.

On the way into the Sandy Hook park, you can stop at the ranger station and get a map of the park and an idea of where you can go, and where the Navy will shoot at you for trespassing. Some parts of the cove side are verboten, as is the north part of the #OOPS#ula.

Wow, I know I misspelt the word for "point of land that sticks out into the water and surrounded on three sides," but I didn't think it was THAT bad.
