i have the 9' 5wt pwr matrix -LOVE IT ! have the access 10' 5wt - LOVE IT , from what i am told by a friend who is a orvis guide that the hydros and access are both built on the same load ratios and tapers as the helios , i would venture to say that the access rod might feel really close to the same casting as the hydros but with cheaper hardware and the savings is substantial ! good luck , orvis is rock solid ! rods and reels are like cars everyone like one or the other for one reason or another ! beauty is in the eye of the beholder !
