

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : orvis rods, are they good?

Re: orvis rods, are they good?

Author: : Fredrick

Date: : 2010/12/21 23:41:03

URL:

Quote:

troutslammer wrote:

a friend of mine has the t-3 i think mid flex 5wt and he can blow streamers a mile with it , can't throw streamers with a 8wt t-3 ..come on now , there must be some kinda grudge against orvis with a silly statement like that Troutslammer I love Orvis gear just not most of there rods . Like Jay said I own lots of TWEED gear and 3 rods .The T-3 would buckle during big casts with wieghted flies . I want fast action rods that can handle more line in the air than I can . I love my superfine rod and still use it from time to time but I perfer fast action rods now so I don't use it that much anymore it's a full flex and casts very good in all situations except for far .

Jdaddy I think Orvis definitely has the best deals out there right now and also IMHO the best marketing . Your right.... you can't beat that deal . BtW I like that Winston you had at the stocktober fest but that noisy line has to go 😊

Mrflyfish I also think the Sage XP is a great rod