jdaddy - my answer to that question is why not ? i don't throw dumbbell eyes and extremely heavily weighted streamers , no need for it , the streamers i throw are light when water temps warm up and they are chasing them i feel there is no advantage to go extremely deep with them , i also don't go out to the stream with the mind set i am gonna streamer fish all day , some water is nymph , some is streamer , some is dry and a mid flex foots the bill for me , which rods a person like is all opinion , hell i own a stick shift truck and my wife won't drive it unless she has to so ... another reason as u stated above why not get the hydros and a 250 reel free & if u don't like it send it on its way back to orvis !!!
