

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Your first fly pattern

Re: Your first fly pattern

Author: : FrequentTyer

Date: : 2010/12/23 0:31:48

URL:

I was lucky enough to be given a bunch of tying materials and tools and mostly taught myself from books. I think my first pattern was a caddis larva from a book called The Caddis and the Angler. But it has been so long I can't be sure. I highly recommended buying and working through Charlie Craven's Basic Fly Tying. He teaches solid fundamentals and you learn new skills as you move through the patterns. All of the patterns he presents are useful in practice. The first few are the brassie, black beauty, RS2 and GRHE.