

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : orvis rods, are they good?

Re: orvis rods, are they good?

Author: : BrandonMH

Date: : 2010/12/26 16:08:31

URL:

Troutbumm, I have been thinking of replacing my St Croix triumph 4wt (don't think they make them anymore) and was looking the legend ultra. That is a fast action rod right? The triumph I have is a mid flex and when I try to cast longer distances than like 40 yrds I have a hard time, have good orvis line on it, which did help casting but this year, just seems to not want to cast that well. I thought it was me, so I grabbed my Helios 5wt I got last year and was casting probably around 60+ yards with great accuracy and line would roll out flat all the way to the tippet tip with the yarn fly. I also was looking at some Sage, Cabela's new LSI but kinda want a med action.