as i sit here reading threads while working the night shift at a local hospital, i begin to start thinking about the future. i am in the market for a new winter stream jacket. i have looked at the online websites like cabelas, orvis and bean but am interested in hearing if anyone has insight on thos topic and what jackets they have used in the past or are currently using. i believe i am fancying the type that has the "vest idea" incorporated, being it has large pockets for "things." any advice guys???

i guess i am hoping it will be a cold winter!
