

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : orvis rods, are they good?

Re: orvis rods, are they good?

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2010/12/28 8:15:22

URL:

Rod preference is a matter of personal choice. I've always been a Sage rod fan and also liked a few rods in the Loomis line. While I agree some of the older model Orvis rods were underwhelming to me since I was a faster rod guy, the new model Orvis rods (Helios and Hydros) are great casting/fishing rods. The "Tipflex" models are amazing light in weight and feel, while the "Midflex" models are moderately fast for those FFers that prefer a slightly slower action.

Again, rod choice is based on personal preferences, so cast all types and brands of rods until you find one that suits your casting and fishing.