

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : San Juan worm

Re: San Juan worm

Author: : gfen

Date: : 2010/12/28 10:31:34

URL:

Quote:

Maurice wrote:

I like gfen's description...but I suppose it won't pass the Jay test.....

I dunno, the boy's not unreasonable, he's just contrary.

My definition splits the difference, and I'm happy to acknowledge their utility and effectiveness, while at the same time stating why I don't like 'em.

Except suckerspawn, I still vote that's a dumb fly. I think once a year I tie one on, throw it once, look at the sodden mess, clip it off and store it til the next year. Seriously, do those things actually work? Someone tie me an effective one, I'll use it all day Friday, with an indicator. I want to catch a fish on one.

I want to believe!