

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Your first fly pattern

Re: Your first fly pattern

Author: : tracker12

Date: : 2010/12/28 11:21:02

URL:

Well I decided to keep it simple while I practiced the basic steps of maintain thread control securing amterial and finishing the fly off. Did a few san juan worms, egg patterns and green weenies. Pretty please so far and is has been a lot of fun. I am having trouble getting my eggs small enough and rounding on the bottom. Is there a way to adjust the pressure on bobbin? The old one I have seems a little light and the new one seems a little tight for 6/O thread.