

---

Subject: : Beginner Forum

Topic: : San Juan worm

Re: San Juan worm

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2010/12/28 22:55:04

URL:

While SJWs are hardly go-to flies for me - I do fish 'em a fair amount, usually in the springtime and usually tandem with a nymph or sucker spawn.

I find I like to tie my SJWs without the forward extending section as this (at least for me) has resulted in a kinked fly that sometimes twists. I usually tie off the end of the "worm" at the eye of the hook. There's a Hareline Dubbin product I like called "Pearl Core" that makes for a neat and realistic looking SJW.

Attach file:

---

 SJWs.jpg (197.62 KB)

