We stayed at Seven Mountains a couple summers ago. Poe Valley was closed for renovation and we felt Hemlock was too tight and narrow to try to get our trailer into for 2 nights.

SM was ok, at the time it was a lot of seasonal trailers, not sure if that is the case now or not, it looks like they have made some improvements.

This is just hearsay!

I heard that the seasonal rates have went through the roof, since the new owners took over and are losing alot of them, if true should make more room for us.I too have heard of the improvements, that are being made. The rates seam a little high but not that bad. It's not that far from Hemlock so, I'll still be staying at my place and traveling over for the events.
