Kid,

The Bighorn was something else. 20+ fish days every day and the average size was 17-18 inches. Amazing. Fish are packed in every inch of that river. Water was around 9000 cfs while I was out there, so we got to do little dry fly fishing. My next trip there will be in the spring for some hatches or later in the summer for the hoppers.

As for PA, I've come to learn that big fish do indeed like little meals. I've only taken FF seriously for a couple years now and most of those 20 inchers came last year on size 22 thread midges and 18-20 PTs.
