I will take you up on that this year. What licenses do you need this year for NJ?

Thanks

Rick

No problem but my engine threw a rod or something last night trying to get unstuck in the snow so If I get another car or have mine fixed by spring than sure all are invited . All you need to do is register with NOAA its like 15 bucs but it is good for all salt waters

PS Jdaddy there is nothing special about sharkskin line besides the noise it makes if it gave you more distance than all the casting torny guys would be using it exclusively
